The local fires that roared through for about five days are over finally, smoke still hangs over everything.

There is now a website up to take PayPal donations: <http://www.westtexasfirerelieffund.com/>

There's still more info on the Facebook pages I linked on the 14th here too.

If you watch the video on that site, fair warning, there's images of dead livestock briefly in it. The maker of the video noted he left a lot out, he found a large number of dead livestock.
